A Message From the President of the Clinical Orthopaedic Society

The Clinical Orthopaedic Society (COS est. 1912) is approaching its 100th anniversary in 2012. As we race toward this epic event, we need to look ahead, as few humans or organizations have survived this long. We have thrived, and this 2008 meeting moves us closer to this exciting event!

Our 96th Annual Meeting in Annapolis, Maryland, moves us nearer to the 100th milestone. During this meeting there is time to think about the past, look toward the future and enjoy the present, by participating in traditional live patient based presentations, and topics of general orthopaedic interest with a scientific base.

Dr. Bob Peroutka has personally arranged an excellent program, emphasizing Sports Medicine, with a broad based appeal to all the specialties. Dr. Peroutka, with the Board's assistance, has integrated the talents from Johns Hopkins University, the University of Maryland (UM) and the Annapolis region. Dr. Peroutka has also worked with the membership of the Maryland Orthopaedic Association (MOA) under the leadership of Dr. Vince Pellegrini, Chairman of the Department of Orthopaedic Surgery at the University of Maryland, to make this a promising experience. There will be the usual competition at the resident/fellow level from several programs.

The Annual Meeting program will be full, and includes several exciting areas. Dr. Jim Urbaniak, the Virginia Flowers Baker Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery at Duke University Medical Center, will be our featured academic guest speaker. Dr. Urbaniak's participation and knowledge, along with his lovely wife Muff, always add to an occasion. In addition Dan Jansen, a 1994 Gold Medalist at the Lillehammer Winter Games, will bring us his experience. His presence and his video are both spellbinding and unforgettable. We all remember his unique story and the most memorable Winter Olympic moment, since the "Miracle on Ice" in 1980. The Dan Jansen Foundation contributes to youth sports and educational programs, emphasizing leukemia. This is especially appropriate with our Sports Medicine theme. You will really appreciate and take home his message.

Collegiality is a mark of COS through the years. The Westin Annapolis is a beautiful, brand new, state of the art resort. The scientific give and take, the open reception, the US Naval Academy, and opportunities for sailing, fishing, other recreational activities, historical delving and my promise of good weather, makes this an attractive venue all-around. The "dine around" evening features seafood at premier restaurants, and nighttime entertainment opportunities.

The combined opportunity with the Maryland Orthopaedic Association, the University of Maryland, Johns Hopkins University and our membership is a great mix. Welcome to Annapolis!

— Angus M. McBryde, Jr., M.D.

A Message From the President of the Maryland Orthopaedic Association

On behalf of the Maryland Orthopaedic Association, allow me to welcome you to our state capital and the wonders of the Chesapeake Bay. Annapolis has a great deal to offer, both from a historical perspective as well as for those who love the outdoors by the sea. It is our privilege to join the Clinical Orthopaedic Society in a discussion of all matters orthopaedic; we look forward to an enjoyable and mutually educational meeting.

— Vincent D. Pellegrini, Jr., M.D.

MISSION & AUDIENCE

Meeting Mission Statement

The field of orthopaedic surgery is an ever evolving discipline. New diagnostic and treatment techniques available for the diagnosis and management of orthopaedic problems continue to develop. Just as important, however, are the time tested methods of orthopaedic surgery. The annual meeting of the Clinical Orthopaedic Society provides orthopaedic practitioners with a comprehensive mix of current diagnostic and treatment modalities available to them. Participants in the course will learn new information as well as review standard diagnostic and treatment techniques in the disciplines of hip, knee and ankle arthroplasty, sports medicine, spine, trauma, oncology, foot, and ankle. Live patient presentations will afford an opportunity for participants to view patient-physician interactions. Discussion between the audience and presenters will be encouraged. The faculty consists of expert clinicians who will be accessible to the participants during the meeting. This program sponsored and offered by the Clinical Orthopaedic Society for members and non-members has been developed to meet the educational demands of practicing orthopaedic surgeons.

Target Audience

Orthopaedic surgeons, residents, sports medicine physicians, physician assistants, nurses, physical therapists, other allied health personnel, epidemiologists, researchers, and all those involved in the care of orthopaedic patients will benefit from attending the 2008 Annual Meeting of the Clinical Orthopaedic Society.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

Overall Course Objectives

Course participants will be presented with updates in the orthopaedic fields of arthroplasty, sports medicine, oncology, spine, trauma, pediatrics, and foot and ankle.

Arthroplasty

Participants will review the latest options for DVT prophylaxis after total joint arthroplasty, surgical approaches to the hip, and total knee prosthesis design concepts and availability. Participants will also learn how to implement a total joint center at their hospital.

Sports Medicine

Oncology

Participants will learn to make appropriate decisions in assessing and treating soft tissue tumors.

Trauma

Participants will review common pediatric and hand sports injuries, and be able to accurately diagnose and treat compartment syndrome in a timely fashion.

Spine

Participants will be presented updates on spinal surgical techniques, including minimally invasive spine surgery and spinal deformity surgery.

Foot & Ankle

Participants will review the treatment options for foot and ankle tendon injuries and sports injuries. Participants will be presented with decision criteria for choosing between ankle fusion and ankle arthroplasty for treatment of ankle arthritis.
